

Gathering Requirements — Tiny Case Study 2

The marketing department at XYZ Corp has identified a market opportunity for a new product, and you are in charge of building it.

Your task is to gather requirements, conduct feasibility study, hire appropriate engineers, etc., and build the product.

Questions:

1. Who would you interview for requirements?
2. Who else would you interview for requirements?
3. When you have contradictory requirements, who will resolve them?
4. Suppose the product is a web-app, how would approach requirements documentation?
5. Suppose the product is an internal accounting application for your company, how would you approach requirements gathering?
6. Suppose the product is a video game, how would you approach requirements gathering?